Dates of Fellowship:
01.07.2015-25.09.2015

Detailed description on Teaching received:

I have participated in all activities of the Department and I have worked constantly with all surgeons on the ward and assisted during a high number of surgical procedures.

I started with surgical procedures, laparoscopic and open surgery. I have assisted some of the open surgery as: Ovarian cancer debulking with paraaortal,iliac and fossa obturatoria lymphadenectomy; excision of vulvar cancer etc. I have assisted some of the Transvaginal Mesh for Pelvic-Organ Prolapse, which was new for me. LEEP conisation was a common procedure in the clinic and was a usefull practice for me.

I have assisted during laparoscopic procedures as: Total hysterectomy, ovarial cysts, radical Wertheim Hysterectomy with bilateral pelvic lymph nodes dissection and a high number of diagnostic laparoscopies. For the first time in my life I have seen the Vechieti procedure(Laparoscopically assisted neovagina formation).

The other half of the day I could assist the outpatient visits in the urogynecology , oncogynecology and dysplasia rooms in the Ambulatory service.

Goals accomplished :

- improvement of clinical and practical knowledge in Oncogynecology
- improvement of surgery skills
- I can perform LEEP conisation with good skills
- Colposcopic examination training

Problems encountered with a critical evaluation of the fellowship experience as a whole:

The fellowship was the most helpful medical experience for me and ti is organized very well. I didn't have any problem during the fellowship, but I would suggest more practice for the fellows and less observing.

Future plan on returning to home:

The main plan is to apply in the clinical practice everything I have learned in this fellowship and to improve the service to the patient. I hope to be able to break some taboos in our old medical system

Overall evaluation and comment of the fellowship:

ESGO Traveling Fellowship is an excellent opportunity for young practitioners in developing countries; so they can have the opportunity to expand their practical knowledge and help to improve the service to their patients. The Fellowship was organized perfectly, combining practice with knowledge obtained during it. I hope that it will continue in the future so other young doctors will have the opportunity like me.
