| Department: | Oncological Department ¹ , Oncogynecological Laboratory ² |
| Current position: | Associate Professor ¹ , Leading Researcher ² |

I have graduated with honours from Belarusian Medical University in 2005. After that I worked as a pathologist at N.N. Alexandrov National Cancer Centre. Since then, I have been working at Department of Oncology of Belarusian Medical Academy of Postgraduate Education. I started as a Ph.D. candidate, then from 2009 professor's assistant. At this moment, I'm an associate professor (from January, 2019). In parallel, despite teaching, I work as a gynecological oncologist at Department of Oncogynecology at N.N. Alexandrov National Cancer Centre. During my early career at this centre, I focused on the development of my surgical skills in order to be fully competent as a cancer surgeon and keep doing it now.

Since 2007 I'm an ESGO member, then ENYGO member. I was a NATREP in 2011-2012. With great pleasure I was at 1st workshop in Amsterdam in 2011 and in Berlin in 2012. I had known a lot about management of teaching. I used this information in my every day's work. I have divided this knowledge with my colleagues. Now I give lectures, conduct practical classes in refresher courses for oncological surgeons, oncogynecologists.

Having the status of a national representative expands the range of opportunities to attend various workshops, masterclasses, allows me to raise the level of knowledge in the field of oncological gynecology, and my work at the oncological department gives me the opportunity to share this knowledge with other specialists.

I thank ENYGO administration very much for the opportunity to participate in the elections of NATREPs.
