Motivation Statement: max 250 words)

Let me introduce myself, I am Oncogynecologist Archil Sharashenidze. I've graduated Tbilisi State Medical University – Faculty of General Medicine in 2009. Later, completed residency program specialized as an Obstetric-Gynecologist, mainly in Oncologic gynecology. In July 2016 I've defended my thesis and obtained PhD degree. Attached you can find my C.V, which will give you a greater understanding of my qualifications and knowledge.

Since 2016 I've experience working as a Gynecologist in "Mardaleishvili Oncologic Research Center" in the department of Gynecologic Surgeries. Since 2017 I am member of European society of Gynecological oncology (ESGO), actively involved and participate in ESGO activities. In 2017 I've obtained ESGO Travelling Fellowship and attended 2 years in Istituto Nazionale dei Tumori di Milano, Italy by mentorship of Professor Francesco Raspagliesi, it was great opportunity and experinece for me. Together with Italian specialist I was attending Oncologic board discussions and participating in clinical case discussions. In 2018,2019 I've attended ESGO annual congress.

Nowadays I am practicing oncologic-gynecologist at „New Hospitals" medical centre and at the same time Head of Gynecologic Oncology Department of Caucasus Medical Centre (Corporation „Evex"). I'am continuing my academic work as Associate Professor of David Tvildiani Medical University, where one of our latest projects were implementing OSCE exams in Surgery and intoroducing Fundamnetals of Laparoscopic Surgery (FLS course) for last year MD students.

As a young practitioner I am trying to actively be involved in continues medical education and attend different training and conferences. Since 2019 as a NATREP, together with my team, we have succesfully established and implemented project of ESGO (ENYGO) webinars in Russian Languages, which was held each month for Russian speaking memembrs. During the webinars, ur colleagues had opportunity to share experience and knowledge with world's leading specialists, discussing the important topics and practical issues.

As ENYGO is a way to develop as a better professional and to exchange experience and it is opportunity for ideas and projects with colleagues, I would like to continue my active participation and introduce other projects, improve ongoing ones and build stronger ESGO community in the region and Worldwide. Nowadays, we are facing the battle not only with cancer, but there are additional challenges based on epidemics. As a ENYGO team member, we have a lot of job to do and I think I am the right person who will try his best of energy, knowledge and communications to further develop and implement new ideas and successful projects for EEG.
